

Activity report on Alipore Jail Museum Visit by the Dept. of History, Gokhale Memorial Girls' College on 19th of December, 2025. The Dept. organized an educational visit to the Alipore Jail Museum for students of Semester I and Semester III as part of their SEC coursework; Students of Semester V also participated. The visit aimed to provide experiential learning through direct engagement with a significant colonial-era heritage site. As part of the programme, students viewed the exhibition “THE BABU AND BAZAAR: ART FROM 19TH AND EARLY 20TH CENTURY BENGAL,” which offered rich insights into Bengal’s socio-cultural life, urban modernity, and visual culture during the colonial period.

The visit proved to be academically enriching and intellectually stimulating. Students gained first-hand exposure to museum narratives, archival displays, and visual sources, strengthening their grasp of colonial and cultural history. The exhibition helped students understand their interplay between art, society, and economy in colonial Bengal. Overall, the activity successfully bridged theoretical knowledge with experiential learning and encouraged greater interest in museum studies and heritage conservation.
